

EXPECTATIONS

Shake & Stir's Greenroom is a safe, supportive, and productive environment to work and grow in. Students learn and rehearse as an ensemble. All students are required to respect the expectations below. Failure to respect or adhere to these expectations may result in removal from the program and excursions.

- We are committed to creating a rehearsal space that is safe, inclusive, and supportive. This means acting with kindness, respect, and self-awareness at all times. Behaviour that is bullying, exclusionary, disrespectful, or dismissive of others has no place in this program.
- You are expected to arrive 15 minutes early to each rehearsal so we can start on time.
- You must treat staff, teaching artists, and fellow young artists with kindness and respect at all times. Respectful and inclusive language is always expected.
- You are required to attend all scheduled rehearsal dates. Any clashes or commitments must be declared before the program begins.
- Being part of the ensemble means putting in the effort. This includes dedicating time outside of rehearsals to learn lines and doing background research on the play and your character.
- A positive, enthusiastic, and focused attitude is expected throughout the program. You will need to manage your own wellbeing and self-care so you can bring your best to each rehearsal.
- Mobile phones are not to be used during rehearsals. They must be kept on silent or airplane mode and stored in your bag unless a staff member directs otherwise.
- You are expected to leave the venue tidy after each session.
- You must remain in the rehearsal spaces designated by staff and not explore other areas of the venue.
- You are expected to work in a way that keeps yourself and others safe, including respecting personal boundaries and following staff instructions.
- When participating in the program, you are expected to represent the company in a positive and respectful way.
